

A 6x5 grid of 30 circular icons, each containing a detailed illustration of a housefly. The flies are shown from various angles, including top-down, side, and bottom-up views, providing a comprehensive visual reference for their anatomy. Each fly is rendered with fine detail, showing the texture of its wings, the segmentation of its abdomen, and the structure of its legs and antennae. The icons are arranged in a uniform grid, with each fly centered within its respective circle.
